Subject: RE: Monarch Collaborative Reminders - Policy Scheduling; Farmers 4 Monarchs

All,

Thanks to those who have already responded to let us know that your organization would like to join on to the Farmers4Monarchs Campaign.

For those that are joining now and in the future, could you please also send me your organization’s logo that you would like to be used on the flyer and the website by January 10??

As a reminder, we are trying to meet these deadlines so that the flyers can be included in the Commodity Classic registration packets.

Thanks so much!!
Aimee

Steve and Rick

In talking to the Senate, they made clear that the changes they are looking to make at this stage are relatively limited and largely based on your input. They are fine with the technical fixes that you have posited, including the vector language, chart headings and the typo. I am fine with those as well. However they have not heard from EPA on the issues in the email below. I understood from Virginia that some of that represents concerns of EPA as well. Given also the desire to fully meet the needs of stakeholders, my preference as well was to largely go back to our original language.

So, do you expect to weigh I anymore with Senate Ag on the language issues below?

Thanks

Dear Rick and Steve

Below in the chain is the e-mail I sent to DaNita Murray reflecting the concerns. As I understood the situation in talking to Virginia, I believe you were concerned as well about the language of stakeholder input on "funding." So my position remains to try to go back to what we all worked out.

You will also note that I have raised the issues of timing and retroactivity as well.

Hey Steve, thank you so much for the below! Is there a time on Monday that would work for you to chat with myself, James and Andrew regarding length of bill and implementation date?

I'll ping EPA regarding FACA and the report on the analyses from stakeholders.

There's also a technical correction from EPA to the house on Pg. 60, where it says "number or organisms" instead of "of". Assume you are ok with that getting fixed...

Subject: PRIA 4

Dear DaNita

Hope all is well and that the hearing went okay. Hopefully, everything is on schedule for a mark-up.

I don't know precisely what will be marked up. I remember with PRIA 3 both the Senate and House had their own Leg Counsel versions, but I presume in this case you may start with H.R. 1029. As we discussed when we talked, we do need to talk through a couple of fixes that need to reflect where we are. Sorry for the length of the e-mail, and I do think we should discuss, but it probably would be helpful me to set forth the issues in writing first.

1. Length of Bill, Implementation date for Fees

So our initial draft of the bill when proposed last year assumed that the bill would be a seven year bill that begin in FY 2017. Thus, the dates in virtually all of the sections indicate that new fees will commence for 2017 and that the bill will expire (and any applicable phase down period commence) after FY 2023. For the maintenance fees, the bill specifically says that the fees go from "2017 through 2023." On the registration fees, they bill indicates the dates through the heading is the far right column of the chart that the fees are for "FY 17 and FY 18".

At least one part of this reflects a mistake in the draft—the new Registration Fees were actually intended to commence on January 1, 2017 even if the bill were passed by October 1, 2016. This was because budgets for registrants were already set and we didn't want an increase before the budget cycle for most companies. But now the problem has been exacerbated because increased registration fees would be retroactive to October 1, 2017. I know that retroactivity is not something that the committee would likely want. And I can mention that EPA does not want to have to go back and charge increased fees retroactively (it is more trouble than it is worth for most categories). So I think the heading on the chart needs to be removed. We would be okay with a date that is the effective date of the bill.

On the maintenance fee side, EPA is less concerned about retroactivity—with PRIA 1 they had to send out "supplemental bills." But obviously this is congress' call (and I will note that the EPA will have access to the maintenance fee funds that have been held up due to Section 4(k)).

But in looking at that section, it did raise one other issue in my mind. All the dates were, as I said, geared towards passage and effective date by October 1, 2017. That obviously didn't happen. As it is, with the dates for expiration in the bill, even if the bill passed tomorrow, the bill would be effective for less than 6 and a half years, not the full seven. And really more likely closer to six by the time the bill gets done and passed by both houses. And, it occurs to me, if my math is correct, expiration in 2023 would put us on the same schedule as the Farm Bill, correct?

So, and I am speaking for myself, not the coalition, whether it would just be better to extend the bill out an additional year, starting in FY 18. This would avoid the problem of the Farm Bill overlap and the retroactivity. I will discuss with Beau, Phil, Virginia and Mae, but would appreciate your thoughts.

2. Worker Protection Report Language

The language in Section 5(e) provides the changes to what EPA includes in its annual report to congress. That section specifically contains language adding, among others, a Section (O) to describe what EPA has to report on the use of the funds set aside for Worker Protection Activities. Here is what the language of the bill is

*“(i) a description of the amount and use of such funds--
 “(I) to carry out activities relating to worker protection under clause (i) of subsection (c)(3)(B);
 “(II) to award partnership grants
under clause (ii) of such subsection;
and
 “(III) to carry out the pesticide safety education program under clause
(iii) of such subsection;
“(ii) an evaluation of the appropriateness
and effectiveness of the activities, grants,
and program described in clause (i);
“(iii) a description of how stakeholders are engaged in the decision to fund such activities, grants, and program; and “(iv) with respect to activities relating to worker protection carried out under* subparagraph (B)(i) of such subsection, a summary of the analyses from stakeholders, including from worker community-based organizations, on the appropriateness and effectiveness of such activities."

Here, however, is what the coalition submitted for consideration by the House.

"(O) With respect to Pesticide Registration Fund Set-Asides pursuant to Section (b)

- (i) The amount expended and nature of the program for which such funds were expended for, respectively, Worker Protection, Partnership Grants and Pesticide Safety Education;*
- (ii) An evaluation of the appropriateness and effectiveness of the programs for which such funds were expended; and*
- (iii) With respect to funds devoted to worker protection activities, how the agency has engaged stakeholders, particularly worker community-based organizations, in meeting the goals of Section 33(C)(3)(B)(i) and the evaluation under this section."*

There are two subtle changes that in my view need to be fixed. The language in subpart (iii) of H.R. 1029 requires EPA to describe how stakeholder are engaged in the decision to fund such program..." I think stakeholders do want to be engaged, but I think both the NGOs and EPA are concerned that this might make it a FACA type situation. I think this language can be fixed to more match what is in my section (iii). I also think that the language in (iv) actually requiring EPA to report on the analyses from stakeholders is more (and potentially more burdensome) than was intended. The goal was to make sure that (1) EPA got input both on funding and success of what was being funded, and (2) EPA was doing analysis on how the funded programs were meeting the goals of greater worker protection. There probably was a better way to say it than we did, but I think the House language adds some things that probably muddy the waters.

If you might be around next Thursday, I will be on the Hill for some other discussions, and perhaps we could get together to discuss.

Thanks

Steve

FYI, I would definitely try to leave before 2pm, otherwise you are going to be sitting in traffic for a long time. Like maybe 4 hours.

Wednesday morning is difficult for us. We could do Wednesday afternoon (1:30 and beyond) and anytime Thursday or Friday. Otherwise after 1:30 on Monday is possible but we may lose 1 participant.

Tom--

Thanks for your note. I'm in California for the rest of the week and have meetings from about 8:30am-4:30pm Pacific Time. If I have the opportunity to step out of a meeting, I'll give you a call today. Otherwise, I will try to call you early Friday morning.

Feel free to call my cell at any time:
